TWO CROPS A YEAR!

TWO CHANCES TO WIN!

Why spend your time in a country where the climate is two to one against you, when you can get an improved farm in the fertile Southwest, for from $12 to $20 an acre, where the chances are two to one in your favor. Unlike the Northwest, you don't have to wait a whole year if one crop happens to be poor but can plant and raise another crop on the same piece of ground the same year.

It is a duty you owe yourself to investigate the opportunities, which this perfect farming country with its long summers, abundant rainfall, fertile soil, and healthful climate, offers to the investor and homeseeker.

The climate is delightful as there are no extremes of heat or cold; cattle graze the year round there being practically no winter. Save FUEL and FEED.

Farms from 160 acres and up in size, all partially improved and at prices so low they are cheaper than homesteads. Write us for particulars and maps of Texas and Oklahoma land, terms, excursions and rates. AGENTS WANTED.

The Northwestern Telephone Exchange Company

Covers the entire field commercially and socially. Do you realize that you can step to the nearest telephone and be instantly placed in communication with more than 100,000 people in the Northwest, and that millions of people are within reach of your voice in this country? The low rates in effect render telephoning by far the most

Economical Method of Communication

"You don't have to wait for the answer" and the "answer is free." Appointments can be made in advance, without charge, and a nominal messenger charge will bring your correspondent to the nearest office, if he does not have a telephone of his own.

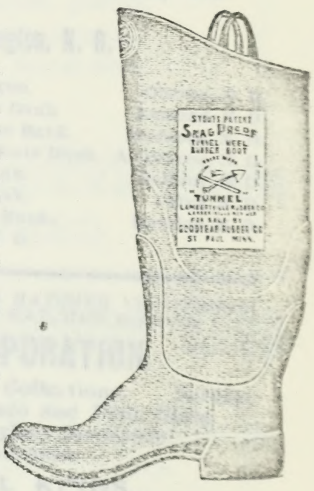
GOLD SEAL RUBBERS —AND— OVERSHOES

STOUT'S PATENT "SNAG-PROOF" RUBBER BOOTS AND SHOES



Have been manufactured for many years by the Lambertville Rubber Co. by a special process under E. Stout's Patent, and are distributed exclusively by Goodyear Rubber Co., St. Paul for the Northwest, The Pacific Coast and Alaska. The rubber used is absolutely pure and new and is pressed into the fabric in such a way as to give elasticity and durability.

The goods are re-inforced and strengthened at all places where they are expected to receive extra wear or strain.

The construction of the boots and shoes is done by only the most skillful hands.

The vulcanizing and other processes through which the goods pass in being made is watched with extreme care.

The object being to produce the very best results that it is possible to realize.

All dealers who have handled these goods, as well as consumers who have worn them, testify to the fact that there can be no better goods made.

REQUIRES

One-half the Water
One-half the Fuel
One-half the Time
One-third the Labor
One-eighth the Wear

Than when done by hand with wash board, or by any other make of washing machine.

Its line of product consists of Washing Machines, Wringers, Mangles, Drying Cabinets and Modern Laundry Outfits.

Its Washing Machine washes Anything, Everything. Anywhere, Everywhere, and is adjustable to the Small Tub, Large Tub, Wooden Tub, Iron Tub, Stationary Laundry Tub and the Neostyle Duplex and Semi Duplex Tubs. It saves more than it costs in a very short time on the wear and tear of clothes alone, saying nothing of water, fuel, time and labor.

Its MODERN NEOSTYLE LAUNDRY OUTFIT includes either a Duplex or a Semi Duplex Tub fitted out complete with Neostyle Washer, Wringer, pipe and valve connections, a Drying Cabinet and a Mangle. It is especially designed for use in Hotels, Modern Homes, Apartment Houses, Institutions and Hand Laundries.

There is no Home modern, or Hotel complete, without a Neostyle Laundry installed.

The Neostyle Drying Cabinet can be ventilated every minute the dryer is in use and will do its work in less time and with less fuel than any other can do. Clothes taken from this cabinet are dried in as sanitary a manner as when dried by the sun or wind.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1906, by R. L. Polk & Co., in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington, D. C.

INTRODUCTION.

This is the thirtieth year of the publication of R. L. Polk & Co.'s Northwestern Gazetteer.

Away back in the early seventies, when this work was first introduced to the business men of the Northwest, there was little demand for it in the sparsely settled regions, but the publishers had an abiding faith in the future of this great Northwestern Empire, and they continued the publication, improving and developing it with the growth of the country, until now it has become a standard work of reference and authority for everything that pertains to Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana, for it represents every city, village and settlement and every individual and firm transacting business in each and every place. The Gazetteer has become indispensable to all classes of people, not only the merchant, the banker, the manufacturer and the professional man in the cities, but to every inhabitant in the smaller villages in the four states and to those living and doing business in every hamlet and settlement. It is the only work of its kind in the Northwest.

A wonderful change has taken place in this community since the first issue of the Gazetteer. Then there were only 590,000 people in the four states, now there are 4,200,000 citizens. The first volume contained only 500 pages; the volume for 1906 contains 3,628 pages, which is an increase of 720 per cent. There were about 700 villages and settlements in the first Gazetteer and there are nearly 8,000 in the present edition. There has been an increase of nearly 600 villages and settlements in the past two years.

There is probably no other work that so clearly demonstrates the wonderful growth that has taken place in these Northwestern states during the past thirty years. No other portion of the North American continent has grown to the same extent, and it is quite evident that a new era of growth and prosperity has ensued and enormous as the growth has been in the past it will be infinitely greater in the next few years.

The Northwest is the most vigorous and prosperous section of the United States today. The climate, the people, the natural resources and advantages all combine to bring about this prosperous condition. The Gazetteer has contributed its share to this favorable state of affairs for there is nothing more conducive to the development and expansion of trade and commerce than an easy means of communication such as is afforded by a reliable work of reference which clearly sets forth the conditions existing in every nook and corner of this trade center.

In the early nineties the cities had outgrown the rural districts and had attained a population greater than could be supported by the rural districts. The present issue of the Gazetteer shows that the greatest growth has been in the rural districts, where the population has largely outgrown the cities, and there is now the most favorable opportunity for growth and prosperity in the large cities.

which will now share the success that has existed generally throughout every nook and corner of Minnesota, Dakota and Montana.

The Gazetteer has become a standard work of reference, a useful and necessary compendium of business interests. It is the most widely circulated and generally used work of reference in the Northwest. It is the most economical and effective method for reaching the four millions of people, who live in this locality. It is a valuable buyer's guide, for here one may see at a glance the name of every house in any particular line of trade. A study of its well arranged and convenient classifications and the names of the business houses is like a visit to the market place.

There are five departments to the Gazetteer.

The first department is the alphabetical arrangment of Minnesota cities, villages and settlements, pages 155 to 1559.

The second department is the alphabetical arrangement of North Dakota cities, villages and settlements, pages 1560 to 1988.

The third department is an alphabetical arrangement of South Dakota cities, villages and settlements, pages 1989 to 2350.

The fourth department is an alphabetical arrangement of Montana cities, villages and settlements, pages 2351 to 2619.

The fifth department is the classified business directory, which embraces an alphabetical list of classifications of every business and profession represented in the four states, with the name of every individual and firm arranged in the proper classification, pages 2621 to 3628.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.

Organized as a territory March 3d, 1849, admitted as a State May 11th, 1858. Area, 79,205 square miles. Population according to census of 1905 is 1,979,912.

Minnesota was well known to the French explorers and missionaries of the seventeenth century, and several of them have left on record their impressions of the country, its climate, agricultural worth, forests, native animals, etc., and if they had been written forty years ago the language would have applied quite as appropriately, for they described the country and its peculiarities just as they existed when the permanent settlements of the whites began to be made here. Their glowing descriptions are indeed true to-day, and the salubrity of the climate is as marked now as it was then. The only change is that resulting from the country's occupation, and this has the effect of improving every feature which in its wild state they regarded as so eminently attractive. The French were followed by the English, and from them we have the same expressions of praise for the country and its climate. Some of them are so fulsome in their laudations that we naturally conclude they must have come hither after a residence of considerable duration in the lower Canadian provinces, or during one of Minnesota's peculiarly pleasant seasons; yet it seems that they remained in the country long enough to become familiar with its climatic conditions. They occupied the country without molestation from Americans until 1805, when Capt. Z. M. Pike, of the American army, with a small body of troops, was sent hither to take possession of it for the United States government. He made treaties with the Sioux and Chippewa Indians, and compelled the traders who were established here to acknowledge the authority of his government for the time being, though they replaced the "Stars and Stripes" with the flag of Great Britian as soon as he left, and did all in their power to prejudice the Indians against this government. Their control of affairs continued, with occasional short intermissions, until the war of 1812-1814 gave the United States predominance in the minds of the Indians, and caused the removal of such of the traders as remained loyal to Great Britian into Manitoba.

It was about this time that reports prejudicial to the state began to be circulated in the East, and it is easy to discern that they were started by the traders, who, forseeing that the country was likely to be overrun by agricultural immigrants, whose presence would soon destroy their business by driving out the fur-bearing animals, adopted this method of delaying their coming until the latest possible period. Their unfavorable reports, although diametrically at variance with everything previously published, were accepted as truth, and Minnesota soon came to be regarded as a locality wholly unsuitable for the homes of civilized people. Traders and settlers, with the few soldiers sent hither to keep the Indians in order, were the only white men in the country until 1838, when the Chippewas ceded to the government their lands on the east side of the Mississippi, thus opening to lumbermen the extensive forests of excellent pine for which that part of the state was famous; and it was these lumbermen who first contradicted the stories of the traders and induced the earlier immigrants, who came hither for the purpose of making the country their homes, to select this as the locality in which to establish themselves. When once the tide was turned hitherward it was not long until Minnesota attained the required number of inhabitants to entitle it to become a state of the Union.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE STATE.

Admitted to the Union in 1858, with less than 160,000 inhabitants, its settlement progressed rapidly, although interfered with somewhat by the financial depression of 1857, the war of secession 1861, and the Indian uprising of 1862. In 1860 the census gave it a population of 172,023, the great majority of whom were agriculturists. These people, with small farms and without markets for their products, or rather without facilities for getting their products to market other than by wagons, or by floating them in barges down the rivers to points in Illinois or Southen Wisconsin, where railroads were finished to the Mississippi, soon presented to the world such evidences of the productiveness of the state that when the war occasioned a demand for agricultural products in excess of what had previously existed, this was the country looked to as capable of producing the surplus needed, and not only were farms opened rapidly all along the Mississippi and Minnesota rivers, but railroad building received an impetus, which in a few years led to the building of roads leading back from the rivers into the upland wheat producing districts. Prices of wheat were high at the time, and there was profit in its cultivation even at the excessive cost for its carriage to market.

The capital of the state having been fixed at St Paul, the earlier settlements were accordingly in the vicinity of this city and along the valleys of the three rivers—the Mississippi, Minnesota and St Croix—which are within easy reach of it; but the building of railroads soon led to settlements being extended into the interior. These anticipated the building of railroads, though adhering as nearly as practicable to the routes which they were to follow.

LOCATION AND WATER COURSES.

The state extends from 43 degrees 30 minutes to 49 degrees north latitude, and from 90 to 97 degrees west longitude, having an area of 79,205 square miles. On the north it is separated from Ontario, Canada, by the Pigeon and Rainy Lake rivers, with the exception of a few miles on the divide between the headwaters of these two river systems, where the boundary is an arbitrary line. West of the point where the Rainy Lake river discharges its waters into Lake of the Woods it is bounded on the north by that lake, and, for a distance of some 80 miles, by Manitoba. The eastern boundary is formed of Lake Superior and the St Croix and Mississippi rivers, with about 40 miles of political boundary, between the head of the lake and the point where the St Croix river bends to the east into Wisconsin. On the south the parallel of 43 degrees 30 minutes separates it from Iowa; and on the west it is bounded by South Dakota to the southern end of Big Stone lake, above which point this lake, Lake Traverse and the Bois des Sioux and the Red River of the North form its limit and separate it from North Dakota. Its shape is irregular, the mean length being 348 and the breadth 244 miles. With the exception of Pigeon river, the upper portion of the St Croix and the Bois des Sioux, the water courses on the boundaries of Minnesota are navigable for steamers, the Rainy Lake river being wide and deep. This stream attracts a good deal of attention on account of the volume of water flowing through it; situated as it is on the very summit of the divide of the continent between the north and south flowing waters, the immense quantities of water carried off by it and the Pigeon river appear phenomenal. Whence they come is cause for wonder, only increased when the further fact is made known that they are fed largely by springs and vary but little during the season in the volumes of water they contain.

THE COMMERCIAL GATEWAY.

The peculiarity alluded to has much to do with Minnesota's importance in relation to commerce. The line of deep water navigation, beginning at the head of Lake Superior, is continuous through the chain of great lakes and the St. Lawrence river to the coast, affording a passageway for vessels of heavy draught, suitable for ocean navigation, which may start from Duluth, in this state, fully loaded, and reach any foreign seaport without transferring cargo or being subjected to any interruption of their voyages other than passinig through the canals, connecting some of the lakes. This virtually constitutes Duluth a seaport, and gives to Minnesota the right to claim that it is at the head of navigation in that direction. Then, again, its capital city occupies a site at the head of navigation on the Mississippi, having direct and uninterrupted communication by water with New Orleans, at what may be termed the foot of steamboat navigation on that river. Besides these, the Red River, which is navigable to Moorhead in this state, affords it an outlet into Lake Winnipeg, where there is water communication, by way of Nelson and Churchill rivers, with Hudson bay, that our English neighbors hope to make navigable at some future day, but without very flattering prospects of their hopes ever being realized. But here are two navigable water route outlets from this state to the ocean, and should the Hudson bay enterprise prove feasible, by either of which its products may be distributed among the markets of the world. Looking at the subject from a commercial point of view, this is a significant matter, and gives the state an importance transcending that possessed by any other in the West. Even in the event that the Hudson bay route should prove impracticable, our northern water outlet is still of great moment, for through it we are able to reach the immense productive country along the Saskatchewan and Peace rivers, and bring their surplus products through this state to market. The situation makes this the natural gateway for the commerce of all the country west of us, and must have an influence on the fortunes of this state which cannot be estimated in the present stage of the country's development.

CONTOUR OF THE SURFACE—ALTITUDE 1,200 FEET.

This entire state, together with nearly all of its surrounding country, is covered with a deposit of loose friable drift to the depth of several hundred feet, which has been subject to the washings of rains and melting snows and the flowing of streams for ages, and, as can readily be imagined, is cut into numerous ravines and valleys of greatly varying width and depth. There are, therefore, but limited areas remaining which approach uniformity of level. The most nearly level places are on the uplands and in the wide valleys of the larger rivers. Generally the inclines are easy grades, with the drainage watercourses flowing gently through expansive valleys and cutting the surface into a succession of billowy divides; but in several localities, as in the Mesabi Ridge, and in places on the Coteaux and in the vicinity of some of the larger streams, the valleys are narrow and deep, and give the country the appearance of almost mountainous ruggedness. The large rivers have deep and contracted valleys in nearly all parts of the state, but this is especially the case with the Mississippi in the lower part of its course, and with several of its tributaries in the southeastern part of the state, where they have cut deeply into the rocky formations which underlie the drift surface soil. The general inclination of the state is towards the southeast, the lower part being the bed of the Mississippi, where it leaves the state at the Iowa boundary. This is less than 700 feet above sea level, and the shore of Lake Superior on the northeast and the channel of Red river on the northwest are but little higher. The mean elevation of the entire state, as estimated by the geologist, is about 1,200 feet; there being localities where the height of the plain is more than 1,500 feet, and some of the hills rise fully three hundred feet higher. These highlands are in the northern part; the divide entering the state between the headwaters of the Pigeon and Rainy Lake river systems, and extending thence west by south two-thirds the distance to the western boundary. There it separates, one arm trending to the northwest and forming the divide between Lake of the Woods and Red river, and the other bending to the south, through Becker and Otter Tail counties, and separating the waters of the Mississippi from those of the Red river. This ridge forks again in Otter Tail county, a branch turning west between Lakes Traverse and Big Stone, and the other bending further towards the east takes an almost southerly course, finally crosses into Iowa from Faribault county. The Coteaux des Prairie, which enter this state from South Dakota in Pipestone county, continue a nearly southeast course into Faribault county, whence they, too, pass into Iowa. The lowest cultivable land in the state is that in the lower portion of the Minnesota River valley, where the elevation is only about 800 feet.

FERTILITY OF THE SOIL.

The drift, which forms the surface covering of the entire state and everywhere has a depth beyond the reach of plow or other implement of cultivation, is apparently the debris of rocks, ground up by forces which in some past age have acted upon them for long periods of time, and precipitated by the waters in which they were held in partial solution. They include nearly every rocky element found anywhere upon the globe, and are more or less thoroughly intermixed with organic remains. They are rich in plant food and yield luxuriantly all kinds of cultivated crops adapted to the northern climate. The soil differs slightly in different parts of the state; that in the lower lands and valleys, having, of course, a larger proportion of organic matter, and it is usually more clayey, except in the immediate vicinity of the streams, where the sands are washed free of other and lighter material by successive overflows. On some of the flat highlands, as in parts of Murray county, and in the Red River valley, also, there is an unusual admixture of alkaloids, so much so in places as to impregnate the surface water to a degree rendering it unsuitable for drinking. These spots are of limited extent, however, and the alkali does not seem to interfere with their productiveness, otherwise than to improve their adaptability for growing wheat. The land everywhere is easily cultivated, and the proportion of the uncultivable area is insignificant as compared with the total area of the state. The only extensive districts which can justly be called unsuitable for cultivation are in the extreme northern part, and these are now found to have a greater value because of the excellent iron ores they contain. Along the Mississippi river and several other of the larger streams there are places where the bluffs are cut into deep gulleys for short distances, rendering a considerable aggregate area too rough for farming puposes; but here again the timber growth more than compensates for the loss.

LAKES AND STREAMS.

The inland lakes of Minnesota are its most remarkable feature. There are about 10,000 of these, varying in size from 40 acres to the dimensions of Red Lake, with its 340,000 acres of surface. Those in the far north, where the country is not yet settled, are remarkable for the quantities of fish they contain, and, as these are of the varieties highly prized by epicures, they afford plenty of sport for fishermen. The lakes are usually on the highest lands, and the courses of the several divides which intersect the state may be traced on the map by the groups of lakes which dot the surface. As they all overflow they are of necessity the sources of innumerable streams, and there is probably no place in the world where watercourses are of such frequent occurrence and water so abundant as in Minnesota. The fisheries of the state are an important item of its resources.

AREA OF PUBLIC LANDS.

The estimated total area of the state, exclusive of lakes and watercouses, is 50,000,000 acres, of which about 8,000,000 acres are still owned by the state and federal governments and are subject to sale, settlement and entry. Much of this land is valuable for timber and agricultural purposes, and some of it is valuable for mineral purposes. The various railroad companies also own large grants of land.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

If there is a hamlet within the borders of civilization that has never heard of Minnesota's "No. 1 Hard Wheat," then it is so far remote as to be unworthy of consideration. Wheat is the largest and most valuable crop produced; until a few years ago it was practically the only one. However, the error of centering all energy in a single product was discovered in time, and general farming and stock raising is now practiced with splendid success. The number of experienced and frugal farmers who have sought the rich soil and climate of Minnesota within the last few years years is beyond enumeration, and they, each and every one, report that no better corn grows anywhere in the world than that which finds life in the North Star state. The hardy oats have won fame all their own; barley is very successful; rye is extensively cultivated; buckwheat and flax prosper; and for stock raising and dairying the state has won separate distinction, aside from its other famous products. In 1860 the wheat crop was 2,186,993 bushels, and in 1895 was about 60,000,000 bushels. Minnesota now produces over 100,000,000 bushels of wheat annually, which is more than the production of any other state.

THE MINING INDUSTRY.

No other industry, except farming, is of greater importance to Minnesota and the Lake Superior region than the iron industry. Minnesota last year rose to the position of second in the United States in the production of iron ore. Minnesota now produces more iron ore than France or Austria-Hungary, nearly twice as much as Russia and more than three times as much as Sweden.

Minnesota's annual iron ore product has grown until it is more than double that of the famous iron-producing state of Pennsylvania, and is greater than the combined ore products of New York, New Jersey, Virginia, Tennessee and Missouri. Michigan is the only state in North America which excels Minnesota in the production of iron ore.

THE TIMBER INDUSTRY.

The vast forests of Minnesota have ever constituted a source of wonder and delight to the foreigner, and it is the timber industry that has materially aided in bringing the state into the prominence it enjoys. It has played a highly important part in the industries of the North Star state since the advent of the white man forced the savage to move his lodge further into the wilderness. The head waters of the Mississippi and St. Croix rivers and their tributaries lie in the great pine regions of the Northwest, and as a prominent writer once said, "For years the pinery vied with the prairie in attracting attention and new population to the state." For years, and up to the present time the cutting of logs and manufacture of lumber has reached great proportions.

MANUFACTURING AND RAILROADS.

Minnesota is so much of an agricultural state that the fact is almost lost sight of that it has, during recent years, made great headway and progress in manufacturing. The manufacturing interests are widely diversified, but flour and lumber are leading products.

The transportation facilities are extensive and fast expanding. There are more than 7,000 miles of railroads in successful operation, and the railway system is directly connected at Duluth with the best system of inland water transportation on the continent.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Minnesota has a free school systyem of which it may well be proud. When the first territorial government was established in 1849, the land in Minnesota was supposed by congressmen to be of little value, and, as a consequence, congress granted a double quantity of land for the support of education. The magnificent public school system has about 8,000 schools, 130 high schools, 5 normal schools and a state university—all working together in harmony as parts of a real system of education. For the support of these institutions, in addition to the millions expended for buildings and equipment, and in addition to the revenue derived from the school fund and from local taxation, the state annually distributes nearly $1,000,000, raised by special state tax.

MINNESOTA COLLECTION LAWS

Acknowledgments and Affidavits.—Judges of all United States and state courts, the clerks thereof, court commissioners, notaries, justices, registers of deeds, county auditors, town and city clerks, members of legislature (1905), are authorized to administer oaths and take acknowledgments. Officers outside of the state, authorized in their state to administer oaths or take acknowledgments, must affix seal to instrument. If they have no seal of office, then affix certificate of their official character. Notary must add to acknowledgment or jurat the date when his commission expires.

Assignment and Insolvency Laws.—Assignments must be in writing, acknowledged, witnessed and filed in district court in county where debtor resides or business is located. Certified copy must be recorded in register of deeds' office to affect real estate. Assignee must be resident and freeholder of the state. Inventory and detailed statement of liabilities must be made by debtor within ten days after assignment. Bond of assignee double the value of property. Notice of assignment or appointment of receiver must, within ten days thereafter, be given by publication and mail. Claims must be verified and filed with assignee or receiver within twenty days after publication of notice, unless filing permitted thereafter by order of court. Creditor must, in case of insolvency, or assignment after attachment or garnishment, file release of unpaid portion of claim within time fixed by court. Estate must be converted into money and distributed as follows: First—expenses of assignment or receivership; second—debts due United States, state and taxes; third—wages earned within sixty days; fourth—other debts pro ratio; fifth—remainder, if any, to assignor or debtor. In case of attachment or garnishment, if debtor does not, within ten days, make assignment, receiver may be appointed upon petition of creditors representing two hundred dollars in claims. The making of an assignment or appointment of receiver releases attachment or garnishment. District court has complete jurisdiction in the matter of the assignment or receivership.

Attachment.—Writ allowed, upon affidavit of plaintiff, his agent or attorney stating that a cause of action exists against defendant and the amount and grounds thereof, and that the debt was fraudulently contracted, or that the defendant is a foreign corporation, or not a resident of this state, or has departed therefrom, as deponent verily believes, with intent to defraud or delay his creditors, or to avoid the service of a summons, or keeps himself concealed with like intent, or has assigned, secreted or disposed of, or is about to assign, secrete or dispose of his property with intent to delay or defraud his creditors. But no writ is allowed in actions for libel, slander, seduction, breach of promise of marriage, false imprisonment or assault and battery. Bond of not less than $250 required of plaintiff. Attachment dissolved by debtor giving bond in double the amount of the debt claimed, for the payment of whatever judgment plaintiff may obtain.

Garnishment—Employes of cities, villages, school districts, etc., are subject to garnishment.

Chattel Mortgage.—Must, as against creditors and subsequent incumbrancers and purchasers in good faith, be acknowledged and witnessed and filed in the office of town, city or village clerk where property, or some part thereof, is situated at the time of the execution of the mortgage. Lien continues as against mortgagor until debt is paid or barred by statute of limitations, but as against creditors and subsequent purchasers the lien of the mortgage does not continue beyond six years from date of filing the mortgage. Mortgagor or person holding under him or lienholder may redeem mortgage at any time after condition broken and within two days after sale under foreclosure. Mortgage upon family library and musical instruments, wearing apparel, furniture, sewing machine, bicycle and typewriter (exemption) must be signed by husband and wife.

Notes and contracts reserving title to personal property in the seller until purchase price is paid, when filed as in case of chattel mortgages, are notice to creditors of the purchaser for one year after the note or contract or last installment secured thereby becomes due.

Assignment of debts, except those evidenced by writing, is void as against creditors, unless such assignment is in writing and filed with town clerk, village recorder, or city clerk, unless those claiming under such assignment make it appear that it was in good faith and for a valid consideration. (Laws 1899, ch. 265.)

Deeds.—Must be in writing, and may, but need not be under seal, acknowledged, have two witnesses. Acknowledgment must contain statement that grantor is unmarried, or if married, that the person joining is husband or wife. (See affidavits and acknowledgments.) Of homestead must be executed by husband and wife. Use of private seals in written contracts are abolished. (Laws 1899, ch. 86.)

Corporations.—Foreign corporations (organized outside of the state) must file copy of charter in the office of the secretary of state and compiy with other provisions of law before transacting business in this state.

Exemptions.—Homestead, eighty acres or one-half acre in town, city or village of less than 5,000 inhabitants, or one lot in cities of 5,000 population and dwelling house thereon, occupied by owner and to be selected by him. (See Deeds.) Homestead not exempt from judgment for wages of laborer or servant. Family library pictures, musical instruments, pew, cemetery lot, wearing apparel, five hundred dollars' worth of furniture, insurance from exempted property; three cows, ten swine, one yoke of oxen and a horse, or a span of horses or mules, twenty sheep and their wool, food for stock and family provisions and fuel for one year, one wagon, sleigh, two ploughs, harrow and other farming utensils worth $200, seed grain, not exceeding 100 bushels of wheat, 50 bushels of oats, 100 bushels of potatoes, 10 bushels of corn, 100 bushels of barley, binding material sufficient for use in harvesting crop grown from above amount of seed grain; tools and implements of mechanic, miner or other person, used for the purpose of carrying on his trade, and $400 stock in trade; library and implements of a professional man; presses, type, etc., of printer or publisher of newspaper, whether a person or a copartnership, of the value of $2,000 and $400 stock in trade; one sewing machine, one watch, bicycle, typewriting machine, $25 of wages earned within thirty days prior to levy of attachment, execution or garnishment; library and apparatus of a public college or school; money received from life insurance of deceased husband or father, $10,000. All money, benefit or relief fund payable by any beneficiary association or society, exempt to certificate holder and beneficiary. Building and property of such associations are exempt. If husband absconds, homestead preserved to occupying wife and children.

Interest.—Legal, six per cent; contracts in writing, ten per cent. Interest on over-due interest allowed if so stipulated in the contract. Interest after maturity same as before. If more than ten per cent be paid, it may be recovered back, and usurer forfeits principal and interest.

Justice Courts.—Jurisdiction in actions to recover judgment for $100 or possession of personal property of that value.

Limitation of Actions.—To recover real estate or foreclose mortgage, fifteen years; upon judgment, ten years; upon contracts, or trespass upon real property, to recover personal property, for injury to the person or rights of another, not arising on contract, for relief on the grounds of fraud, to enforce a trust, or compel an accounting, six years; against sheriff, coroner or constable, or for penalty given to a party, three years; for libel, slander, assault and battery, false imprisonment, penalty to the state, two years.

Married Women.—A married woman enjoys all the property rights as if sole, except in conveyances of her real estate, other than purchase money mortgage and lease for term not exceeding three years, husband must join. Husband and wife cannot contract between them as to real estate. In relation to all other subjects they may. Necessaries furnished to and used by the family are chargeable upon the property of both husband and wife, or either of them, and in relation thereto they may be sued jointly or separately, does not apply to debts contracted before passage of act April 20, 1899.

Proof of Claims.—Non-residents sending claims for collection should give full names of creditors and their residence, full names of debtors, so far as known, and their place of business, an itemized statement of account, which, if suit is directed, or if against the estate of a deceased person, should be verified by oath to the effect that the same is true, and justly due above all legal set-offs, and, when convenient, the name of some person resident of this state who will execute a bond for costs. Such a course will often save much delay.

Revivor.—Part payment or new promise in writing.

Redemption.—Real estate sold under execution and foreclosure, one year, for taxes three years, after sale.

Stay of Excution.—Judgment of district court, six months; justice's court ($10 to over $100), one to six months.

Witness.—Party not excluded by reason of interest or crime.

MINNESOTA GAME AND FISH LAWS.

Unlawful to hunt, take, kill, ship or cause to be shipped, sell, expose for sale, have in possession, at any time, any turtle dove, snipe, prairie chicken, pinnated, white breasted or sharp tailed grouse, quail, partridge, ruffed grouse, pheasant, woodcock, golden plover, upland plover, ring-neck, Chinese or English pheasant, wild duck of any variety, wild goose of any variety, brandt or any aquatic fowl whatever, except that turtle dove, snipe, prairie chicken or pinnated, white breasted or sharp tailed grouse, woodcock, upland and golden plover may be killed and had in possession between the first day of September and the first day of November following, and except that quail, partridge, ruffed grouse or pheasant, other than Mongolian, Chinese ring-neck or English pheasant may be killed and had in possession between the first day of October and the first day of December following, and except that wild duck of any variety, wild goose of any variety, brandt or any variety of aquatic fowl whatever may be killed and had in possession between September 1st and December 1st following.

Unlawful to kill elk, fawn, deer at any time; except deer may be killed between November 10th and 30th of the same year, and no person shall kill or have in possession during said time more than two deer or parts thereof.

Moose or caribou, except male moose or caribou, may be killed between November 10th and 30th of the same year.

Unlawful to kill mink, muskrat, otter or beaver between May 1st and November 1st in same year.

Open season for taking or catching trout, September 1st to April 15th following; for black, gray or Oswego bass, from March 1st to May 29th following; for pike, muskalonge, whitefish, cropple, perch, sunfish, sturgeon, lake trout, catfish, or any variety of fish from March 1st to May 1st following, except that pickerel, suckers, bullheads, redhorse and carp may be speared without limit at any time, and artificial lights may be used in so doing.

Killing of more than 15 birds by any one person in any one day, more than 25 fish in one day, and 2 deer, 1 moose and 1 caribou in one season, prohibited.

Use of swivel guns, snares, traps, artificial light, to catch or kill birds, or dogs to hunt animals, prohibited.

The sale and purchase of trout or any gray, black or Oswego bass, is prohibited.

Sale, exposing for sale, or shipment of any game bird, or any variety of aquatic fowl whatever, unlawful.

Game birds may be had in possession 5 days, and deer, moose and caribou lawfully killed, 5 days after close of season.

According to an act approved April 3d, 1903 (Chap 113, Laws 1903), to provide a bounty for killing wolves, the state pays a reward of seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50) for killing a full grown wolf, and one dollar ($1.00) for killing a cub, and many of the counties pay an additional reward.

fair in 1898 and 1904 and medals were received for exhibits of grasses at Chicago World's Fair and at Buffalo Exposition. Clover, tame and wild, grasses grow abundantly. There are nearly 3,000 head of horses and 7,000 head of cattle kept in the county. Small fruits are being successfully grown. There is still a vast amount of timber wealth in the county. Mostly hardwood. All timber products find a ready market. The county abounds in beautiful lakes and streams of pure water and is becoming popular with campers and summer cottagers from many states. Mille Lacs lake, 18 miles s is reached by a well traveled shady road and is 10 by 20 miles in size. Sandy Lake, is reached by steamboat up the Mississippi river and is a growing favorite, Cedar Lake, but half an hour's drive from town, has a number of cozy cottages and summer homes. Game and fish are plentiful. Aitken is on the N P Ry, 156 miles n of Minneapolis by rail, 27 e of Brainerd, and 87 s w of Duluth. It is also on the Mississippi river, which is navigable from here as far n as Grand Rapids to which place the steamer "Irene" makes regular trips during the season. All branches of mercantile business are represented, and a big trade is done, Aitken being the base of supplies for lumber camps and ranches for a distance of over 50 miles n, and as far s as Mille Lacs Lake. It has 3 saw mills, a shingle mill, stave, hoop and head lining factories, an opera house seating about 400, a free public library, 4 hotels, a brick yard, a creamery, a cigar factory, planing mill, 2 banks, a graded school and a high school with normal department occupying a new $40,000 building, thoroughly modern, with perfect sanitary and ventilating system, steam heat, fire protection, chemical laboratory, library, gymnasium and an auditorium seating 600, the entire building lighted by electricity. The churches are Methodist, Episcopal, Congregational, Catholic, Scientist, Swedish Baptist, Unitarian, Swedish Lutheran, Swedish Episcopal and German Evangelical. The village owns its own electric light and water plant and has a complete system of water mains and sewerage. An organized fire department of three companies is maintained, and the village owns a two story brick building as a fire station and city hall which seats about 300. Three weekly newspapers, the Age, the Independent and the Republican are published. The people are progressive and energetic and the place has a bright future. Many new settlers are coming in constantly and during the past two years the assessed valuation of the county has more than doubled. Many good business buildings have been erected and several hundred new homes have gone up during the past three building seasons. Farm lands are in brisk demand and many well to do farmers from southern Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, and the Dakotas, have settled here. A good local telephone exchange is operated, connected with the Northwestern long distance lines, as far n as Winnipeg, and e to Chicago. The local lines also extend to Mille Lacs Lake and Cedar Lake. Six stage lines supply 26 county postoffices from Aitkin and make rural box deliveries. Triweekly stages to e and w sides of Mille Lacs Lake. Exp, N P. Tel, W U. Mail, daily. Carlton Graves, P M.

ALBERT LEA. Pop, 5,657. Freeborn county. The seat of justice. Is located at the junction of the "Great Albert Lea Route," the M & St L, Iowa Central and Illinois Central R R, with the C M & St P Ry, and the C R I & P Ry, 108 miles s of Minneapolis. It is a flourishing city, beautifully situated on a plateau between and overlooking Fountain Lake and Lake Albert Lea, and is located in the center of one of the most populous and richest farming and dairying sections of the country. It has a large and constantly increasing trade and is a splendid market for all kinds of farm products. The city is governed by a mayor and council, is well laid out with wide and handsome streets, and a boulevard 5 miles long around Fountain Lake for pleasure driving. The buildings are modern and substantial structures of red and white sandstone and pressed brick. It has a court house, erected at a cost of $100,000, a city hall at a cost of $25,000, and a new government building at a cost of $30,000, an efficient and well equipped fire department, water works, electric light and gas plants, a flour mill with a daily capacity of 300 barrels, 2 foundries and machine shops, 2 grain elevators, 4 banks, 9 hotels, a theater, a daily newspaper, The Evening Tribune, a semi-weekly, the Tribune and 3 weeklies, the Enterprise, the Standard and Freeborn County Times, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Methodist, Catholic, Baptist, Episcopalian and Universalist churches, can be more quickly made when goods are displayed in a brilliant light. Customers will linger to look over other goods in a store lighted by

American Automatic Lighting Systems

They bring out all the strong points of the articles on sale. This peerless lighting system can be purchased and installed at a low price, and considering the fact that they cost less to maintain and give a greater candle power per gallon of gasoline than any other light on the market, they prove themselves not only money makers but money savers.

ANOKA. Pop, 4,053. Anoka county. Was established in 1850, and incorporated as a city in 1878. Governed by a mayor and board of aldermen. Annual election in April. It is the judicial seat of the county, on the N P Ry, the St C & F F br and the E Ry of Minn div of the G N Ry, 18 miles n w of Minneapolis and 29 n w of St Paul, on the e bank of the Mississippi river, at its junction with the Rum river, which affords a splendid water power. Its principal industries are milling and the manufacture of shoes, starch, brick, sash, doors and blinds. The surrounding country is becoming noted for its stock farming and poultry breeding. Anoka is noted for its handsome residences, and has now become the largest shipping point for potatoes in the nothern tier of counties. The city is lighted by electricity, and has a fine system of water works, and contains 10 churches, a large sanitarium, 3 fine two-story brick school houses, also a $30,000 high school building just completed, 2 banks, 2 good commercial hotels, city hall, court house, and other public buildings. A fine $14,000 Carnegie public library, just completed, would be a credit to any city. The First State Asylum is located here. The city sustains 3 weekly papers, the Herald, the Union, and the Free Press. Telephone service. Exp, G N and N P. Tel, W U. Mail, daily. W J Annon, P M.

AUSTIN. Pop, 6,489. Mower county. The judicial seat of the county, is a flourishing incorporated city, located on the C M & St P and the C G W Rys, 105 miles s of Minneapolis, and 100 s of St Paul. It was first settled in 1855, incorporated as a village in 1868, as a city in 1873, and is governed by a mayor and board of aldermen. It is a busy industrial center, and the supply point for a large section of the surrounding country. The confluence of the Red Cedar river with Turtle creek here supplies excellent water power, partially used by 2 flour mills. It has brick and tile works, a packing house, cement works, a railroad repair shop, a creamery, a flax fiber mill, 3 banks, several hotels, a public library, a hospital, Baptist, Congregational, Presbyterian, Methodist, Lutheran, Episcopal, Christian, Advent and Catholic churches, 5 public schools, a normal college and commercial school, and all the features of a first-class city. It is well built, boasts many fine business blocks and handsome private residences, with a $50,000 school building and an $80,000 court house; has a first-class system of water works, a sewerage system and owns its electric light plant. A gas plant is in course of construction. Two daily newspapers, the Herald and the Register, and 3 weeklies, the Register, Herald and Transcript, are sustained. The exports are wheat, flax, barley, timothy and clover seed, flour, live stock and produce. The nature of the land in the vicinity is mostly prairie, and is valued at from $50 to $75 per acre. Telephone service. Exp, U S and W F & Co. Tel, W U and Postal. Mail, daily. Samuel Sweningsen, P M.

BRAINERD. Pop. 8,133. Crow Wing county. Incorporated as a city in 1883. Governed by a mayor and a board of aldermen. Biennial elections in November of even-numbered years. An enterprising manufacturing city, favorably located on the e bank of the Mississippi river in the center of the county, of which it is the county seat, and within 12 miles of the geographical center of the state. The town lies on a level plateau about 60 feet above the river level, giving it a natural drainage, which accounts for the splendid health of the community. It is a junction on the main line of the N P Ry, 127 miles n w of Minneapolis, 118 s w of Duluth, and 138 s e of Fargo; it is the terminus of the Minnesota & International Ry, and is the receiving and distributing point for the surrounding country, which exports large quantities of lumber, grain, furs, creamery products, game, fish, produce and the luscious blueberries that grow there in abundance. The discovery of iron ore in the near vicinity recently has given an impetus to the development of that industry. It was first settled in 1870, and has made rapid progress, its eligible position aiding materially. The machine shops of the N P Ry here are the most extensive on the line of the road. Over $350,000 was expended in enlarging the plant during the years 1900 and 1901. These shops give employment to over 750 men. The monthly payroll aggregates $42,000 and the payroll of the M & I Ry is from $6,000 to $8,000 per month. The Northern Pacific Sanitarium, for the use of the company's employes, is located here; also the St Joseph's hospital, conducted by the Sisters of St Benedict of Duluth, Minn; the latter being a new structure erected at a cost of $45,000. At this point the river has been dammed, which furnishes 60,000 horsepower for manufacturers, and overflowage for boom facilities for two billion feet of logs. The city has arc and incandescent electric lights, water works, and pure water, a model fire department, many social and fraternal organizations, a first-class local and long distance telephone system, paved streets, fine city park, good sewerage, saw and planing mills, cigar factories, a brewery, a creamery, a grain elevator, 2 flouring mills, a large foundry, employing 125 men, and a payroll of $7,000 monthly; 2 banks, 8 hotels, with numerous boarding houses, and wholesale and retail stores in nearly all branches of trade. Three newspapers, the Dispatch (daily and weekly), and the Tribune and Arena (weekly), are published here. The religious and educational facilities are excellent and consist of 11 churches, including Episcopal, Congregational, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran and Catholic denominations, a graded public high school, four handsome ward schools, and a public library, containing about 2,000 volumes. A substantial court house is here, and a large and commodious opera house, costing $23,000 (seating 800) is one of the attractions of the city. An attractive and substantial building has been erected by the Y M C A. There are also several large public halls, an athletic park and ball grounds. A U S signal service station is located here. Prairie and timber land in the vicinity is worth from $5 to $10 per acre. Exp, N P. Tel, W U. Mail, daily. Two rural free deliveries to Sewell and Nokay daily. N H Ingersoll, P M.

CASS LAKE. Pop, State Census 1,062, estimated, including Indians, 2,000. Cass county. A fast growing incorporated village, established in 1899, 22 miles n of Walker, the county seat. It is located on the Fosston br of the G N Ry, of which it is the division point; midway between Duluth and Grand Forks, and on the Park Rapids br of the G N Ry, of which it is the terminus, 257 miles n w of St Paul. It is governed by a board of trustees. The town is beautifully situated on the shores of Cass lake and Pike bay, connected with the Mississippi river in the center of the most extensive lumbering district in the state. Surrounded by numerous other lakes and streams, well stocked with fish, and the neighboring woods abounding with game, beautiful drives and healthful climate makes this point a mecca for tourists and sportsmen. It has schools, 4 churches and a mission, a saw mill, a planing mill, 3 banks, a hospital, a hall, water works, an electric light plant and several hotels, of which the Endion hotel is headquarters for commercial men and tourists. Two weekly newspapers, the Times and Voice, are published. Lumbering is the chief industry in which the greater portion of the people are engaged. Exp, G N. Tel, W U. Mail, daily. Fred W Smith, P M.

CROOKSTON. Pop, 6,794. Polk county. A prosperous and enterprising city, the judicial seat of the county, is located on the Red Lake River, 28 miles from its junction with the Red River of the North. It is an important railroad center, being on the main line of the G N Ry, and the Winnipeg br of the N P Ry, 299 miles n w of St Paul, in the direct line of travel to Manitoba and British Columbia. It is also the terminal of three br lines of the G N Ry; the St Vincent, the Thief River Falls and Moorhead & Northern. It is governed by a mayor and a board of aldermen. The country tributary is one of the best farming districts in the state, and has been lavishly endowed by nature with every advantage. This city, the site of which a few years ago was a field of wheat and stretch of forest, is now teeming with mills, factories, stores, shops and dwellings. The excellent power furnished by the Red Lake River is only partially utilized. A steam saw mill, 2 flour mills, a sash and door factory, a tannery, 3 marble factories, an electric light plant, a city heating plant, 3 lumber yards and 2 extensive brick yards are among its industries. It has 12 churches, fine graded public schools, a high school, 3 business colleges, state school of agriculture, just completed, 4 banks, 5 good hotels and an unusual complement of newspapers for a city of its size. The Crookston Daily Journal office is equipped with all the modern printing and job work machinery, including a Mergenthaler linotype machine, and is turning out work in the English, Scandinavian and German languages, and the Journal is the leading daily in Northern Minnesota. From its office is also published the Polk County Journal (an 8-page 6-column weekly devoted to the interests of the farmers in the valley, and also containing a record of current events), the Vesterheimen (a Scandivian weekly) the Bud og Hilsen (a Scandinavian semi-monthly), the Crookston Press (a weekly), and the Crookston Times (daily and weekly), are also among the city's list of papers. Button's Business College, which was established here in 1900, has already outgrown its old quarters, and has moved into its new and commodious building. The city has the Holly system of water supply, and for drinking purposes, artesian wells, a well organized and thoroughly equipped fire department and a telephone system with two lines extending to St Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Fargo, Grand Forks and all North Dakota points and Thief River Falls and all intermediate points. The free rural mail delivery has been established here, the first one having begun operation in December 1901, and other routes are now being established and extended as rapidly as possible. The streets are wide, and at the present writing there are fifteen blocks of asphalt pavement and about fifteen blocks of macadam. One of the chief characteristics of the city is its handsome residences, the number of which has been largely increased during the past season. A state experiment farm of 480 acres was located here in 1895, and under the able management with which it is favored, is a feature of great value to the city and surrounding country. The principal shipments are wheat and lumber, and good improved lands can still be obtained within reasonable distance at from $10 to $30 per acre. The supply of wild lands in the immediate vicinity is practically exhausted. The system of farming is now undergoing a radical change, from that of exclusive wheat raising to systematic crop rotation, stock raising and dairying, and as a consequence of the latter, creameries and cheese factories are being established in numerous localities with extremely gratifying results. The development of these agricultural interests along these permanently substantial lines, for which this region is especially adapted by its wonderful capacity for producing a large variety of nutritious grasses, including clover and timothy, is rapidly operating to the advantage of this important commercial center of the Red River Valley. Daily stage to Red Lake Falls and intermediate points. Exp, G N and N P. Tel, W U. Mail, daily.

DESNOYER PARK. Ramsey county. A station on the C M & St P Ry, in the city limits of St Paul, 6 miles e of the Union Depot.

DETROIT. Pop. 2,149. Becker county. The judicial seat of the county, is located on the main line of the N P Ry, and the "Soo Line," 200 miles n w of St Paul, and 47 e of Fargo. It is an important station, serving as a distributing point for a large area of well settled agricultural country. It was incorporated as a village in 1880, as a city in 1900, and is governed by a mayor and common council, annually elected in March. The town is lighted by electricity, supplied with water works, and has an excellent telephone exchange, an effeient volunteer fire department, an excellent high school and the best of school equipments and instructors. It is well supplied with churches, having 8 church organizations, each with its resident minister. These are the Baptist, Episcopal, Congregational, Methodist, German Lutheran, Swedish Lutheran, Norwegian Lutheran and Roman Catholic. There are several hotels. At the head of the list stands Hotel Minnesota, with nearly 100 rooms. This hotel is heated by steam, has electric lights, public and private baths, and all other modern appliances for the comfort and convenience of its guests. The transient rates are $2.50 per day, with suitable concessions to guests remaining for 1 or more weeks. In Aug, 1902, a syndicate of Detroit citizens purchased Hotel Minnesota. The building was thoroughly repaired and refurnished. New plumbing and steam heating plant were put in. An addition with three large, steamheated and electric lighted sample rooms and other conveniences were erected. The Hotel Minnesota Company was incorporated with a capital of $40,000. In Sept, 1903, this company purchased fifteen acres of timber land having a fine frontage of 500 ft on Detroit Lake, ½ mile from its hotel at the steamboat landing. For this purpose the capital of the company was increased to $80,000. For particulars address W E Boyd, mngr. The other hotels are the Phoenix Hotel, Waldorf, Sheridan, Lewis, Lakeside and Wilson House. In addition to the above list there are quite a number of private residences where excellent board can be obtained at reasonable rates. Besides a number of special and general stores, workshops, etc, the town contains 2 banks, a planing mill, a merchant flouring mill and grain elevators. A weekly newspaper, the Record, is published. The principal shipments from Detroit are wheat, furs, produce, wood, ties, ice and mineral water.

The location of Detroit in the midst of a cluster of beautiful lakes and on the edge of the vast Red River Valley and Dakota prairies makes it a popular summer resort. Its especial attraction is a chain of ten lakes connected by the Pelican river, and extending forty miles in a southwesterly direction. These lakes are surrounded by hardwood timber, and are in every way very attractive. They are being connected by navigable channels suitable for the passage of steam, electric and gasoline launches. Several cottage villages have sprung up along the shores, and one of them at Lake Melissa now numbers about seventy-five cottages, besides a number of small hotels. Other lots have been sold to purchasers who intend to build. This settlement also includes a summer postoffice, store and telephone station. It is located on a narrow strip of well shaded land between two beautiful lakes with fine beaches on either side, and when the wind blows from the north Lake Melissa is like a mill pond. When the waves are rolling on Lake Melissa there are none upon Lake Sally. This insures in all kinds of weather proper conditions for boating and fishing. The entire chain of lakes has a shore line of over 400 miles, and affords the best of fishing and shooting. Three times daily the small twin screw steamboat Mayflower, makes the trip from Detroit to Lake Melissa. The hotels in this settlement are Pleasant Point House, Thos Richmond propr; Elmgrove Hotel, E C Eddy propr; Fair Haven Hotel, E McNeil propr.

Four miles e of Detroit on the shore of Detroit lake is the Lake View Springs Hotel with a cluster of cottages. In connection with this hotel there are a number of cottages for rental to guests. Five miles s of Detroit on the s shore of Detroit lake is the Nason Bay House, owned and operated by Wm Blair. In connection with this house there are several cottages for rent. Other less frequented places of resort are located on various surrounding lakes, where boats and fishing tackle are kept, and where the fishing and hunting are exceptionally good. Telephone service. Exp, N P and Western. Tel, W U and N A. Mail, daily. E D Holmes, P M.

DULUTH. Pop, 64,945, according to state census of June, 1905. Present Est pop, 76,362. St Louis county. At the head of Lake Superior, the most westerly of the great chain of lakes which reaches from this point to the eastern outlet of Ontario, north of New York, forming, with the St Lawrence river and gulf, a continuous navigable waterway from Minnesota to the Atlantic ocean. In the seventeenth century this waterway was known to the French explorers, who fully appreciated its importance. Through it they made their regular trips to trade with the Northwestern Indians, and the name of the city perpetuates the memory of the enterprising Greysolon Du Luth, who was one of the earliest adventurers to carry the French flag into this wilderness. Notwithstanding its accessibility, however, its remoteness from civilization and the apparent unsuitableness of the country and the heavy growth of timber immediately surrounding the city retarded its settlement for many years. In 1880 the population was 3,483. Since then it has grown into a conspicuous commercial and manufacturing centre with a population of 76,000. From the small beginning of a fishing and lumbering hamlet, it has rapidly assumed proportions of a flourishing city, with such a variety of industries as the change indicates. It has the finest and best harbor in the world. Secured from the winds on the landward side by the bluffs, which rise to a height of more than six hundred feet north and west of the city and its near vicinity, and on the lake side by Minnesota Point, a narrow strip of land, well wooded, which projects from the north shore almost across the head of the lake, 7 miles long, leaving just enough space between it and Wisconsin Point, which is 3 miles in length, for vessels to pass through safely. It is to this excellent harbor that the city owes much of its prosperity and its prospects of future greatness. The Government is now completing a ship canal at this point similar to the one at the north end of Minnesota Point which was completed in 1902 at a cost of $600,000, Spaning the canal at the north end was recently erected an Aerial Ferry Bridge at a cost of $116,000,which is the only one of its kind in the world. The number of vessels arriving and clearing in 1905 at this port was 10,342, total net register tonnage 20,412,407. The total amount of freight moved in the Duluth-Superior harbor during 1905 was 22,676,145 tons, valued at $196,751,583. The city has 6 banks with capital and surplus amounting to $3,050,000, an increase of $380,000 over 1903; also several large loan and trust companies. The postal receipts last year were $207,639.60, an increase of $26,096.63 over the year 1904. The receipts of grain during 1905 at the head of the lakes amounted to 62,069,141 bushels, of which 31,186,725 were wheat. The total lumber cut in the Duluth district in 1905 was 2,241,430,000 feet. Iron ore shipments from the head of the lakes for 1905 amounted to 21,700,000 tons. The assessed valuation of real estate and personal property is $30,751,416. Nearly half a million dollars are expended annually for public improvements, and there are now 113 miles of graded streets, 55.8 miles graveled and 32 miles paved streets; 72 miles of sewers, and 200 miles of sidewalks. Nine railroads terminate here and there are now in course of construction extensions of the W C Ry and M St P & S Ste M Ry into Duluth. The city has a number of saw mills, monster flour mills and iron working establishments, door, blind and sash factories and various other industrial establishments, such as a sand paper factory, and enormous blast furnaces. There is now being erected here a water power plant to develop the waters of the St. Louis river, which is second in power only to that of Niagara Falls and which will furnish the city with electric power for lighting and power purposes. The general offices of the steel coporation are located here, also all general offices of the large mining corporations. The city is well supplied with cable and electric street car facilities and excellent water in greatest abundance, is lighted with gas and electricity, and has every convenience in large and sumptuously furnished hotels, telegraphic and long distance telephonic communication, churches, school houses, etc, that can be found in other cities. Municipal ownership of the water and gas companies has proved very successful during the past five years, gas now being furnished to consumers for 75c for lighting and 40c for heating and power per thousand feet. Duluth's educational system is unsurpassed, the architecture of its schools most especially its high school, being the finest in America. There are 32 school buildings, valued at $1,900,000; 300 teachers, and 12,000 pupils. The city has a very commodious public library, erected at a cost of nearly $100,000. The above statements speak for themselves more and better than volumes of rhetoric. Nor apparently are these increases to cease, as the outlook for the future is fully as propitious as the past. With the natural conditions, the development of the valuable and phenomenal discoveries of iron ore on the Mesaba and the building of new railroads, Duluth should prosper more than any other American city for some time to come. The climate is especially pleasant in summer. Duluth commands an immense trade from a region of country covering fully two-thirds of Minnesota, all of the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, together with large proportions of Nebraska and Kansas, and regions still further northwest and southwest; that is to say, all the trade of these countries seeking water transportation from their nearest port concentrates at Duluth. Exp, Am, G N, Adams, U S, N P and Western. Tel, W U and N A. E. Loring Fisher, P. M.

ELK RIVER, MINN.

Call your attention to the following items of interest regarding their city. It is a city of twelve hundred people, only twenty-eight miles from Minneapolis and its big market. It has three large department stores, a creamery and planing mill. A business man looking for a new location would do well to look the town over before deciding where he will start in.

In the Great Corn and Potato Belt of Minnesota

It is in this part of Minnesota that you find the great potato farms, and every year enormous quantities are shipped from this town. Corn has always proven a paying crop, and such a thing as a total failure in grain is unheard of. Unimproved land in the immediate vicinity of the town may be bought from $6.00 to $15.00 an acre, and will raise as good crops as any land in Minnesota. It is only twenty-eight miles from the big Minneapolis grain market, and therefore the freight item does not cut any figure in the market price. It is on the railroad between Duluth and the Twin Cities, and thus it gives to Elk River an option of two great grain markets. Fine improved farms may be bought at from $15.00 to $30.00 an acre. Stock raising and stock feeding have proven to be a very profitable venture in this locality. An abundance of good water and nutritious grasses make it an ideal country for stock and dairy purposes.

Water Power

There are two undeveloped water powers close at hand, and correspondence with manufacturing concerns of financial responsibility is earnestly solicited.

Situation

ELK RIVER is picturesquely situated on the east bank of the Mississippi River. The splendid steel bridge just completed, brings the town in close touch with all the rich bottom land on west bank of the Mississippi, and will be a great benefit to our little city. Its shade trees, rivers and lakes make it a splendid place to spend the summer in. It has fine schools including a high school that ranks well up among those of the state. It has four churches and several societies. To one looking for a home in an orderly town, we would invite their attention to the above facts.

For any information as to lands, factory sites and commercial enterprises, call upon or write.

The Frank T. White Land Company

MAKES A SPECIALTY OF

Lands in Central-Eastern Minnesota

Within an hour's drive of Elk River we have for sale, lands adapted to raising potatoes, corn and all kinds of small grain and tame grass. An abundance of good water and fine pasture, with the protection of small groves, puts this country in first place for stock-feeding purposes. We have no droughts, no violent storms, no lack of building materials, and our prices are not boomed or inflated. We have, further, the best of educational facilities and all the advantages of a well-settled and prosperous community of intelligent and thrifty farmers, and the best of land within the reach of anybody, at low prices.

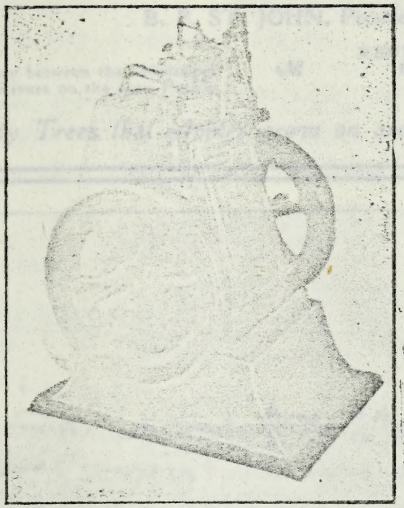
The "FAIRMONT" Engines.

SOMETHING ENTIRELY NEW.

Oscillating Cylinder. No Connecting Rod, 10 per cent to 50 per cent More Power.



The Time of Spark can be Easily Changed, Thus Preventing Kicking Back in Starting.

The FAIRMONT ENGINES are ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO LIGHT LOADS,

Such as Pumping, Churning, Running Washing Machines, etc., as well as being the most reliable and efficient engine for HEAVY MACHINE SERVICE, such as Sawing, Feed Grinding, Lifting purposes, etc., up to 3-horse-power. They develop ten to fifty per cent more horse-power than any other engine of the same size running at the same speed.

None but first-class workmanship is employed. They are Reliable, Durable, Safe and Easy to Start. Economy in consumption of fuel is assured.

The governor is extremely simple, sensitive and reliable.

We use the jump spark system of ignition.

Gasoline is kept in cast iron base holding several gallons; this tank will not rust out.

On account of the positive circulation of the water, and the high efficiency of our engine but little cooling water is required.

We also have a full line of Machinery Supplies, and our Machine Shop and Foundry is fully equipped for the best Gas Engine, Automobile and General Machinery Repairing.

FARIBAULT. Pop, 8,279. Rice county. An important city in the state in wealth and enterprise, and the judicial seat of the county, in the s central part of which it is situated, on the C M & St P, C R I & P and the C G W Rys, 52 miles s of Minneapolis, and 50 s of St Paul. It was established in 1855, incorporated as a city in 1872, is governed by a mayor and common council, and is surrounded by some of the finest agricultural country in the world, the products of which are very extensively exported. The confluence of the Cannon and the Straight rivers here affords excellent water power. The chief industry of the place is milling; 2 flouring mills being in operation. Among its other enterprises may be mentioned a brewery, a wind mill factory, woolen mills, a furniture factory, a foundry and machine shop, rattan works, several carriage-making establishments, several good hotels, a national bank with a capital of $80,000, and 2 state banks, capital $50,000. The State Schools for the Blind, the Deaf and the Feeble-Minded are located here. Four weekly newspapers, the Republican, Democrat, Pilot and Referendum, and 2 dailies, The Faribault Journal and the Shattuck Cadet, are published. The city presents a beautiful and attractive appearance, is lighted by gas and electricity, maintains an efficient fire department, and has an excellent system of water works. The business streets are lined with substantial blocks, and the residential district is replete with handsome homes. The noticeable buildings are those of the Seabury Mission, including the Shattuck School, St Mary's Hall Seminary and the Divinity School; the state institutions, court house, city hall, Episcopal cathedral and city school buildings, an opera house and public library building are also features of the city. Its religious and educational advantages consist of 14 church edifices, the majority of which are handsome and imposing places of worship, representing all the principal denominations, and excellent public schools, in addition to which several other institutions located here enjoy wide repute, and the city is becoming notably prominent for the liberal and careful manner in which such matters are suported and sustained. Shattuck School for boys is one of the most thorough military training schools in the country. St Mary's Hall, a school for girls, while not a part of the Seabury Mission, is conducted under the auspices of the Protestant Episcopal church, and enjoys a good reputation. The buildings of the Bishop Seabury Divinity School cost $150,000, and the college is deservedly noted. The Bethlehem Academy, a Roman Catholic school for girls, under charge of the Dominican sisters, is also an excellent educational institution. The shipments from the place comprise the articles manufactured here, in addition to the grain and produce of the adjacent country. Land in the vicinity ranges in price from $25 to $100 per acre. There are 10 stone quarries in the neighborhood. Stage to Shieldsville and Moland. Telephone service. Exp, U S and W F & Co. Tel, W U. Mail, daily. Wm Kaiser, P M.

FERGUS FALLS. Pop, 6,692. Otter Tail county. A prosperous city and the judicial seat of the county, is located on the N P Ry, and the St C & F F div of the G N Ry, and at the terminus of the P R line of the same road, 176 miles n w of Minneapolis. The city is governed by a mayor and board of aldermen. The Red river here furnishes one of the finest water powers in the state, which is partially utilized by various mills and factories among which are 3 flouring mills, 2 woolen mills and a grist mill. Among the business interests of the city are 4 banks, several grain elevators, 6 hotels, a creamery, 2 colleges, casket works, an opera house, a brewery and a broom factory. There are 12 churches, the majority of which are handsome and imposing places of worship, and an excellent system of graded schools. It is lighted by electricity, has a public library, efficient police and fire departments, a splendid system of water works, and all the facilities and appointments of a progressive commercial center. It sustains 1 daily newspaper, the Journal, and 5 weeklies, the Journal, Press, Globe, Ugeblad and Wheelock's Weekly. Its eligible location in the heart of the finest agricultural and lumber region in the world, coupled with the energy, enterprise and thrift of its citizens, have induced its rapid and at the same time steady growth, and its future as a metropolis of this section of the country is assured. The inducements to investing capital are of the most generous nature, and any legitimate enterprise locating here will receive a warm welcome and generous support. Stage to Perham tri-weekly.
